

FACTS

DIGITAL FILMMAKING

The Digital Filmmaking program at Living Arts College is geared towards the student who has a desire to combine creativity with modern digital filmmaking tools. In the studio environment of America's Creativity College, they can learn both the theory and hands on aspects of filmmaking in today's digital world.

Options permit the program to be completed earning a degree or certificate.

Program Overview

Three intertwined learning paths offer students a "creative edge" upon graduation:

- Classic film techniques including production, editing, history, and theory
- Motion graphic design for title creation and visual effects
- Internet development tools for creation of web audio and video

By incorporating traditional cinematic techniques with modern digital filmmaking tools, students at Living Arts College combine artistry with technology to produce high quality digital films.
